

CTSI Film Library

CTSI maintains a film library of training materials for its members including an online library and a hard copy library. The library contains hundreds of films covering topics of interest to administrative, human resources, sheriff, and road and bridge personnel as well as for general safety topics. Film formats are a mix of VHS, DVD, or online videos. These films are a benefit to CTSI members allowing you to supplement your group risk management training programs.

Using the Online Video Library

To use the online video library, a login and password must be established for the member county. These on-line films are meant to be used in group training settings rather than having individual employees request a login and password. CTSI must manually review and approve each person who requests a login and this becomes quite cumbersome when all employees in the county are submitting requests.

Preferred Method for Online Film Usage

If a county wants employees to view films on their own, it would be best to have a department head request one username and password for their department and then have all of the employees use that login information. The employee could then sign a form stating that they watched the film, and that form can be placed in their personnel file. By having the supervisor approve access to the online films, the supervisor can make him/herself available to answer any relevant questions and keep the topic in context with the risk management goals of the county.

“My Computer Won’t Let Me Access the Film”

This is typically due to a computer not having Adobe Flash installed or activated. Our videos are encoded in Adobe Flash format. They can be played on any browser that supports the use of Flash, which is a free download from Adobe. On some browsers, the user has to “activate” the Flash plugin the first time it is used.

Loss Prevention Film Library

For a listing of all films available, visit www.ctsi.org and click on the orange “Loss Prevention Film Library” button on the right of the screen. This PDF divides films into categories and provides you with the film format, indicates whether the film is available online, and lists the film number. Films are listed as current or archive. Films in the archive category have technically relevant content, but the clothing, scenery, or cultural references are dated.

Ordering a VHS Film or DVD

To check out a VHS or DVD, contact Lisa Stoner at 303 861 0507 or by email at lstoner@ctsi.org. The film will be mailed to you. Films can be checked out for two weeks at a time. Once the film has been viewed, please mail it back to CTSI.

What This Means for Counties

CTSI strives to provide relevant and valuable services to our members. The loss prevention film libraries are a part of these services and are free to member counties. For assistance with films, contact CTSI at 303 861 0507.
